

Portuguese MA: Luso-Brazilian Literatures

CORE REQUIREMENTS

◇ PORT 601B: Literary Theory and Research Methodology (must be taken during your first semester).

◇ Five courses in Luso-Brazilian Literature:

- PORT 638: Luso-Brazilian Cinema
- PORT 639R: Luso-Brazilian Theatre Production
- PORT 642: Camões
- PORT 647: Fernando Pessoa and Portuguese Literature
- PORT 649R: Seminar in Portuguese Literature
- PORT 652: Machado de Assis
- PORT 653: 20th Century Brazilian Literature
- PORT 659R: Seminar in Brazilian Literature
- PORT 661R: African Literature in Portuguese
- PORT 662R: Literature of the Lusophone World

◇ Three 1-credit Mini-Courses (680R). Choose two in Literature and one in either Linguistics, Literature, or Pedagogy.

ELECTIVE COURSES

◇ One Portuguese Linguistics course:

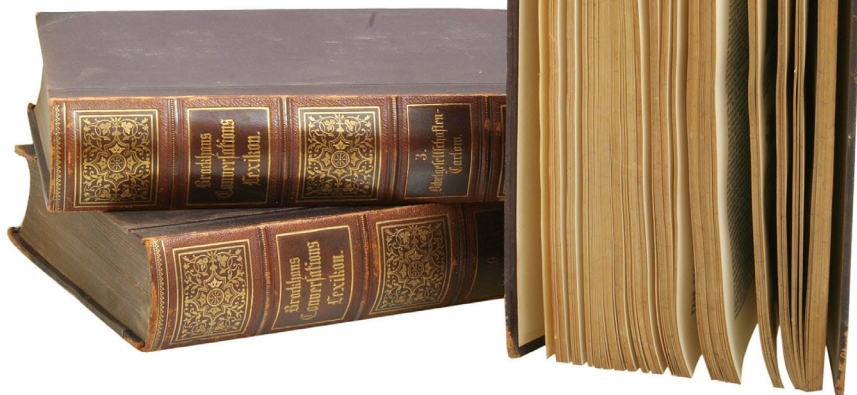

- PORT 520: Advanced Portuguese Grammar
- PORT 521: Romance Philology
- PORT 522: History of the Portuguese Language
- PORT 529R: Special Topics in Portuguese Linguistics
- PORT 625: Portuguese Morphosyntax
- PORT 626: Portuguese Phonetics & Phonology

◇ One Pedagogy course:

- SPAN 671: Principles of Foreign Language Learning and Teaching
- SPAN 672: Media and Technology in Foreign Language Instruction
- PORT 674: Teaching Lusophone Cultures
- SPAN 676: Assessing Language and Culture Learning
- SPAN 677: Teaching Second Language Speaking and Listening
- SPAN 678: Teaching Second Language Reading and Writing
- PORT 679R: Seminar in Teaching Portuguese

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

- Register for six thesis/two-paper option (699R) credits or project (698R) credits and complete an oral defense.
- Specialty Exam: Comprehensive, culminating, written exam in specialty.
- Teaching requirement: Students must teach at least one Spanish or Portuguese language class (100/200 level)
- Second foreign language requirement: Students must complete or already have completed through the third-semester (college level) of a second language, or its equivalent, earning a B or better. Challenge exams are available in some languages. The second language normally should be in one of the commonly taught languages (e.g. French, German, Spanish).

CONTACT US

Graduate Program Manager
spanportgradstudies@byu.edu
801-422-2196

